ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce, BUCKNER LEAVELL, candidate for the office of Circuit Court Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Mississippi is threatened with a plague of grasshoppers.

Whitelaw Reid's $500,000 granite mansion is absolutely rat proof.

The bill repealing the State Board of Equalization has passed the Senate after a hot fight.

The coming President and Vice-President should be nominated at Chicago this week.

The People's Mutual Assurance Company, of Louisville, has failed. Liabilities $50,000.

Blaine was nominated on Friday in 1884 and Harrison was nominated this year on the same unlucky day.

Ratification meetings ought to be held for the special benefit of white-man Reid, as the colored brethren call him.

A Cincinnati firm, manufacturers of baby carriages, has made an assignment. "Dull trade" is the cause given out for the failure.

Whitelaw Reid was an editor of the New York Tribune in 1872 when that paper opposed Grant for President and supported Horace Greeley.

The Elkton Progress, which supported Col. C. M. Clay, Jr., in his late race for Governor, says he will be a candidate for Senator against Senator Carlisle in 1894.

The Breckenridge News has put in a power press and steam engine. Bro. Babbage runs a good paper and deserves all the success he is meeting with and more besides.

The Senate has completed the consideration of the Corporation bill, tacking on at the last moment an amendment prohibiting banks from charging usurious interest.

Farther Mollinger, the far-famed faith doctor of Mount Troy, Pa., who claimed to make miraculous cures and had many believers, died on the 16th inst. of strangulated hernia. He was 70 years old and leaves a fortune of $1,000,000.

Superintendent of the census, Robert F. Porter, gives out that the population of the United States, according to the returns of the eleventh census, was 62,979,766. This includes Alaska and the Indians on reservations. These figures are absolutely final and are not subject to change.

The State election law prohibits any party from adopting a national emblem as its distinctive device, with which to head its ticket. There will be no more flags and eagles on the Republican ballots. The Going Overboard Party can now proceed to decide whether it will adopt a hat, a rat or a coon as its trademark.

All kinds of rumors are current as to how the Indiana delegation will vote in the Chicago Convention. The Indiana delegation is composed of men, who, under instructions, can only vote for others than Cleveland after the Convention has decided that his nomination would be inexpedient. And it is believed that this delegation understands its instructions.

Sam Gaines, Laurie Blakeley and other poles of the Kentucky Press Association will have to look to their laurels. Col. I. B. Nail of the Farmers' Home Journal, pays his respects to somebody who has deceived him—probably a delinquent subscriber—in the following touching stanza:

Deception in the very titled more,
Birth-giving to the dead impending storm;
And confidence the traveler, deluded,
Accusatorial of a day so many-moored.

The Senate has raised the pension appropriation to $146,737,350—an increase of nearly $12,000,000 over the amount appropriated by the House bill. This is an annual tax of nearly $2.50 upon every man, woman and child in the United States, and the burden is growing at enormous proportions. Probably fully $46,000,000 of it goes to people who are not entitled to a pension and to Republican campaign purposes.

Whitelaw Reid lives in a mansion modeled after the feudal castles of olden times, large enough for fifty families, although his family consists only of a wife and two children. The floors are softened with oriental rugs and the walls are covered with silk. The house and its furnishings cost $500,000. Although rolling in all this wealth, Mr. Reid's paper, the New York Tribune, has been run by "rat" labor for fifteen years. Organized labor all over the country will doubtless deliberate awhile before voting for a ticket with such a tool.

JUDICIAL REDISTRICTING.

The readers of the KENTUCKIAN will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Emmons Blaine, second son of Ex-Secretary Jas. G. Blaine, died at Chicago Saturday of blood poisoning. He was a son-in-law of Cyrus McCormick, the reaper man. Young Blaine was at Minneapolis working in his father's interest and appeared to be in perfect health. Mr. Blaine has lost three of his children within the last two or three years and these accumulated sorrows, together with his late defeat, may be expected to bring his own career to an end in the near future.

After Fifteen Long Years.

New York, June 16.—The Tribune has been made a union office. Ex-President Breannon of Typographical Union No. 6, is foreman. It is said that the typesetting machines will be thrown out.

ATTENTION has been called to the fact that the Georgia delegation went to the Minneapolis convention in two cars, the white members occupying one car and the colored members the other. The point is made that the Georgia Republican platform condemns the Georgia railway system which provides separate cars for white and colored passengers. All of which shows how much easier it is to make platforms than to live up to them.—Washington Post.

Hat and Rat.

The printers of New York have invented a name for the Republican ticket which will probably stick by it during the entire campaign. They have had circulars printed and distributed throughout the newspaper offices of New York in which Messrs. Harrison and Reid are referred to as "Hat and Rat." Mr. Reid's arrangement of his difference with the union printers may prove, like Mr. Blaine's resignation from the cabinet, to have been thought of too late.

Dawson, Ky.

When a great many watering places are first discovered they usually enjoy a season or two of popularity and then become "a thing of the past." But that has not been the fate of Dawson Springs, and I believe it ever will be. The wonderful curative properties the waters possess are being advertised more and more by the managers of the various hotels, and by the hundreds, yes thousands that yearly visit it and find relief at its bubbling fountains for almost every ill that the human body is heir to, and each year but adds to its increasing popularity. In fact it is getting to be a custom with a great many of the leading physicians when they meet with chronic cases of the stomach, liver, bowels, kidney affections and dropsical troubles that will not yield to treatment to advise them to stay a while at Dawson and drink the water as it is the best medicine that it is possible for them to take, and it is a rare occurrence for a cure not to be effected. As one listens at the accounts of the wonderful cures that have been effected the credulous would be loth to believe them did they not hear them from the lips of persons whose truthfulness is never questioned. One is almost persuaded to believe that here is the fabled fountain for which Ponce De Leon searched and died in a vain effort to find. So much has been said of the scenery that it would be a waste of words for me to dwell upon it, but one searching for health can find here a quiet unassuming place, away from the noise of political strife, and contentions for individual preferences and the noisy tumults of the busy marts of trade. Already the hotels are rapidly filling up with guests and by the time the season is fairly opened they will be taxed to their utmost capacity. The landlords are kind and courteous to their guests and do every thing in their power to make their stay pleasant as well as beneficial. The Italian Band will remain during the season and those that enjoy tripping the light fantastic toe have an opportunity of doing so at a number of balls that will be given during the summer.

Mr. J. B. Broshear will run a hack hourly to the bluffs and those that enjoy beautiful scenery can have an opportunity of doing so to their hearts content. The guests treat each other with kindness and civility not usually found at watering places, and do all in their power to add to the enjoyment of each other. Seekers after health or pleasure can find no better place than this to spend the heated period.

See Dee Letter.

See Dee, Ky., June 16, 1892.—See Dee, like all other ambitious little towns, wants to be heard from occasionally.

Our courteous postmaster and enterprising merchant, J. I. Longacre, is improving his residence and store room. Some additions to the building, and a handsome coat of paint, makes his cheerful home on east Main quite an ornament to our village.

We regret to report Mrs. Garland Jones, after a severe illness of four months, only slightly improved. Am sorry that affliction has fallen on another home in our vicinity. Mrs. J. A. Ledford is quite sick, but we are rejoiced to state reported some better.

Miss Lucille Dickerson's school closed with a grand concert at Little River church on Friday evening the 10th inst. The pupils acquitted themselves in a manner reflecting credit upon their fair, lovely and competent teacher, and affording pleasure to an appreciative audience. The address of welcome was delivered in an impressive and charming manner by little Miss Lizzie Nance. The closing address, which was a tribute to the musicians, Messrs. Arthur M. Henry and Dr. E. C. Anderson, was delivered by Master Garland H. Jones in a style indicating the embryo orator. The address was composed for the occasion by his mother. Being lucky enough to have in possession a copy, I enclose the same. It should be preserved, and where is a better place than the columns of your valuable paper?

THE ADDRESS.

Gentlemen:

Our teacher is so awfully timid, she just hasn't time to tell us what she has to say. For this reason I have lost of check. Some author, away back yonder, but his name I will drop from my speech. Asks, if the world has a heart in it, so could that motto can't reach it. Of this strange admittance you know. You, gentlemen, need have no fears. For every heart troubled and vibrated. As the sweet notes fall on our ears. And we children, too, how we thank you! So much that we never can tell. For this audience, so thrilled by your music. Concludes we have done fairly well. Through life we will love and remember. The hand that has led us to fame! On our hearts so young and so tender. Is inscribed each musician's name.

Eureka! All hail! I repeat it.—The largest words I've in store. But the ladies are nodding and snoring. And think that I ought to say more. But I am only a wee little boy. And you cannot expect a big speech. But THE MUSICIAN'S HEART is so near Heaven. That it is easy for children to reach! When the fates, the guitars and the violins. You have laid down for the very last time. The Orchestra of Heaven will bid you Welcome! Into its sunny bright clime. As sweetest tones instrument they give you. When you reach the fair British Land. For the children of genius labor! A place in the glorified band.

WELL WISHER.

CERULEAN OPENING.

A Large Crowd on Hand and the Opening Ball a Great Success.

Cerulean Springs was formally opened for the season with a grand ball Friday night last. Although the announcement of the date of this pleasant occasion was not made until a few days before, a good crowd of young people and many old ones were present. Mike's Italian band was on hand as per announcement, and made delightful music for those who enjoyed themselves gliding in the mazy waltz as well as those who did not dance, but feasted their ears upon the sweet strains.

Clarksville, Cadiz and this city were well represented. Messrs. S. W. Gunn & Co., the genial and popular proprietors, saw to it that every one had a pleasant time, and made one and all feel perfectly at home. The occasion was one that will long be remembered by the large crowd of visitors.

The water at these noted Springs was never better than now, and every day adds to the already large list of visitors new names. It is learned that when the O. V. commences running trains from Evansville to this city a rate of one fare for the round trip will be given to the Springs during the balance of the summer season, and this feature coupled with the wide popularity the springs has already enjoyed, will insure a large crowd throughout the season.

MATRIMONIAL.

ADAMS-SHACKLEFORD.—Mr. John T. Adams and Miss Mamie Shackelford, two of Madisonville's most popular young people, were married at the home of the bride's mother last Tuesday evening. The groom is County Clerk of Hopkins county and his bride belongs to one of the best families in that county.

GRINSTEAD-GARDNER.—Dr. C. T. Grinstead, of Bowling Green, and Miss Bessie Gardner, of Glasgow, were united in marriage last Thursday afternoon.

DEATHS.

LANDER.—Daniel Lander, an uncle of Judge J. I. Lander, died at his home in Texas last week at the advanced age of 88 years. Deceased was a former resident of this State.

RIGGIN.—Elder J. C. Riggins, a very aged and respected citizen of Madisonville, died last week.

PETERS.—An infant of E. A. Peters died in the city Thursday night.

DICKET.—Miss J. M. Dicket, an asylum patient, died Sunday, aged 16 years. The remains were shipped to her home in Paducah yesterday.

BROWN.—Mr. B. F. Brown, a prominent farmer of Seales' Mill, died suddenly of heart disease Saturday, aged 45 years. Deceased leaves a wife and several children.

The next meeting of the Kentucky State Teachers' Association will be held at Paducah, June 28, 29 and 30. Extensive preparations have been made by the citizens of that live and enterprising town, and this is expected to be the best meeting in the history of the Association. Important topics are to be discussed and good speakers have been engaged. An exhibit of school work will be extensive, and numerous schools will be represented. Half-fare rates on the railroads have been secured, and low rates for boarding. Ladies will be entertained free. A large attendance from this section is earnestly desired. The work of education is advancing, and progressive teachers are always found at these meetings. Parties who go over the L. & N. Railroad should send membership fee—One Dollar—at once to the Secretary, R. H. Carothers, Louisville, Ky., and get certificates of membership in order to get half-fare rates.

Hopkinsville City Court.

As requested I herewith give a brief synopsis of the City Court business for the public. I was elected and qualified September 1, 1890, for a term of four years as Judge of the City Court, since which time I have lost but one day from business and during the spring and summer months have always been in my office by 7 o'clock in the morning, and by 7:30 during winter months. Capt. Fritz or some one of his force reports every morning any business they may have and I report to them any thing I may know that needs attention. Everything in connection with the police force and this office is working harmoniously, smoothly and pleasantly. My criminal docket shows to date 1,400 appearances by me tried. An unprecedented number greatly in excess of anything heretofore known in the history of the Court.

I have paid into the city treasury on fines collected a little more than $2,100, showing an average of over $100 per month during my incumbency. This is in addition to what I have paid the City Attorney as his commission of 30 per cent of fines imposed on parties outside of city limits. Of the above amount I have received as my salary $500 for 20 months, leaving more than $1,600 clear cash to the city, less City Attorney's commission. There seems to be a better feeling of security on the part of citizens—that the city is under better discipline than usual and I think violations of law are less frequent. There are on the docket 1,400 or more that is uncollected, part of which was assessed against parties that are not chronic violators of law, and time was given them in which to spare the money with which to pay same.

In addition to the above about $3,500 or $4,000 have been worked out in work house by parties not disposed to pay their fines.

There seems to be a feeling of harmony between the citizens of the city and county and the officers that are required to enforce the law. It is to be hoped this may continue, thus encouraging all officers to do their duty, that the best interests of all may be maintained. I shall hope to conduct the office of city judge so as to receive the commendations of all good and law abiding citizens.

Very Respectful,

M. D. BROWN.
